Brief Statement of Mennonite Doctrine

This is a summary statement based on the confession of faith adopted by Mennonite General Conference in 1963. For a fuller statement see the Mennonite Confession of Faith. (Herald Press, paper, $.95, in Canada $1.35)

1. We believe in one God eternally existing as Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

2. We believe that God has revealed himself in the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, the inspired Word of God, and supremely in his Son, the Lord Jesus Christ.

3. We believe that in the beginning God created all things by his Son. He made man in the divine image, with free will, moral character, and a spiritual nature.

4. We believe that man fell into sin, bringing depravity and death upon the race; that as sinner, man is self-centered and self-willed, unwilling and unable to break with sin.

5. We believe that there is one Mediator between God and men, the Man Christ Jesus, who died to redeem us from sin and arose for our justification.

6. We believe that salvation is by grace through faith in Christ, a free gift bestowed by God on those who repent and believe.

7. We believe that the Holy Spirit convicts of sin, effects the new birth, gives guidance in life, empowers for service, and enables perseverance in faith and holiness.

8. We believe that the church is the body of Christ, the brotherhood of the redeemed, a disciplined people obedient to the Word of God, and a fellowship of love, intercession, and healing.

9. We believe that Christ commissioned the church to go into all the world, making disciples of all the nations, and ministering to every human need.

10. We believe it is the will of God that there should be ministers to teach the Word, to serve as leaders, to administer the ordinances, to lead the church in the exercise of discipline, and to serve as pastors and teachers.

11. We believe that those who repent and believe should be baptized with water as a symbol of baptism with the Spirit, cleansing from sin, and commitment to Christ.

12. We believe that the church should observe the communion of the Lord's Supper as a symbol of his broken body and shed blood, and of the fellowship of his church, until his return.

13. We believe in the washing of the saints' feet as a symbol of brotherhood, cleansing, and service, and in giving the right hand of fellowship and the holy kiss as symbols of Christian love.

14. We believe that God has established unique roles for man and woman, symbolized by man's bared head in praying and prophesying, and by woman's veiled head.

15. We believe that Christian marriage is intended by God to be the union of one man and one woman for life, and that Christians shall marry only in the Lord.

16. We believe that Christians are not to be conformed to the world, but should seek to conform to Christ in every area of life.

17. We believe that Christians are to be open and transparent in life, ever speaking the truth, and employing no oaths.

18. We believe that it is the will of God for Christians to refrain from force and violence in human relations and to show Christian love to all men.

19. We believe that the state is ordained of God to maintain order in society, and that Christians should honor rulers, be subject to authorities, witness to the state, and pray for governments.

20. We believe that at death the unsaved enter into everlasting punishment and the saved into conscious bliss with Christ, who is coming again, and will raise the dead, sit in judgment, and bring in God's everlasting kingdom.

Three hundred years ago in 1688, Germantown Mennonites and Quakers joined hands in protesting the "traffik in menbody" (slavery) then common in the colonies. Mennonites, Quakers, and Brethren—sometimes called "the Left Wing of the Reformation"—have always seen peace and justice as central, not peripheral, themes in Christ's teaching. The 1688 slavery protest is the oldest known statement on record in North America.

Foreword

We are pleased to present to you the 1988-89 Mennonite Yearbook, the organizational and statistical record of the Mennonite Church (MC) in North America. This volume reflects the life of the church as it is found in its congregational, area, district, conference, state/provincial, continental, and worldwide expressions.

In 1988 we recognize one historical event in the life of the church. On April 18, 1688, three hundred years ago, four Quaker and Mennonite Christians authored a statement protesting the practice of slavery in the New World. Edgar Metzler in "Facing the Issues Then and Today" reviews that historical event and offers applications for our life today. James M. Lapp, who became executive secretary of the Mennonite Church General Board and Assembly in mid-1987, offers his critique of the shape of the Mennonite Church in this juncture of its history in the article "The Mennonite Church, 1988-89."

The basic features of the Yearbook continue. However, as with each issue, we seek to reflect the life of the church and organize this publication in a way that is helpful to all our readers. As you page through this volume you will note several changes which we think make this a more useful resource for your participation and ministry in the life of the church. Changes include the following:

First: Special Days now include events for three years—1988, 1989, and 1990. Calendars for these same years are also included in order to facilitate planning.

Second: The geographical directory, now called "Directory of North American Congregations," includes the "Church of God in Christ, Mennonite, a body of about 120 congregations in North America.

Third: Urban councils and area organizations previously integrated as part of the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations" have been separated into their own section, "Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations." This is an attempt to identify these emerging fellowships and groups but recognize that these are not conference bodies.

Fourth: In the conference directory the Mennonite Conference of Eastern Canada is the new name for the 1987 merger of the United Mennonites in Ontario, the Mennonite Conference of Ontario and Quebec, and the Western Ontario Mennonite Conference.

Fifth: The entry "Church Communities" heretofore listed in the conference directory has been deleted due to the growing ambiguity of such a listing. These congregations now are listed in the various conference bodies of the church.

Sixth. The entry "Dual Conference Congregations" has been added to the "Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations." This reflects a growing, maturing trend among congregations who identify themselves also with a Mennonite body or bodies in addition to the Mennonite Church. This organization seeks to foster greater cooperation and integration at all levels of church life.

Seventh. In the "Directory of Mennonite Church Organizations and Related Ministries" section you will find one new entry, "Other Church Related Programs." It is found with the General Board listing. These programs, not sponsored by Mennonite Church structures, are recognized as ones who do contribute to the overall mission and goals of the Mennonite Church.

Eighth. In the "Directory of Detailed Listings" you will find a) a list of Mennonite Conciliation Service Centers, b) a restructured media programs section now called "Media Programs—Literature" and "Media Programs—Radio and Television," c) a list of Mennonite Peace Centers, d) a listing in one place of the publications and editors of conference periodicals, and e) a listing of schools related to the elementary and secondary education councils.

Ninth. In the statistical section, an effort to keep track of Vision '95 overseas mission goals, the level of staff, and giving to this program is being tracked in the table "Comparative Mennonite Outreach Overseas."

A statistical review of our life together indicates that membership in our North American based body now stands at 107,439 in 1,113 congregations (14,949 members and 108 congregations in Canada; 94,762 in 1,005 congregations in the United States) (Table IV). Add to this the 44,942 members in overseas churches and programs. Our Mennonite Church family now numbers 154,653 (Table II). Of note is the 4,768 people who provide leadership for our 1,841 worldwide congregations. These totals should be seen in the context of a North American all Men-

The Mennonite Church 1988-89

by James M. Lapp, Executive Secretary
Mennonite Church General Board

Complexity is a common description of our contemporary world. May it also be apt for the Mennonite Church during our times? Many of us yearn for simpler times, a slower pace, a more subdued lifestyle. I recognize these desires within myself. Yet we continue to be swept along by forces and influences bigger than ourselves. Today even 20-year-olds need a datebook to order their lives and a file cabinet to store important documents.

What is true on a personal level seems to be increasingly characteristic of our congregations, conferences, and denominations. We occasionally complain about the bureaucratization of life but the average household or church has not escaped this dilemma. We hope that somehow this complexity will not invade our belief system or the way the Mennonite Church engages in mission, education, mutual aid, publication, or services provided to congregations. But, alas, management by objectives, strategic planning, flow charts, and careful attention to lines of accountability are common parlays in the church. To some folks this reality only confirms a perceived loss of spiritual vitality in our Mennonite Church organization. For others, the greater attention to proper ways of doing things offers hope that the Mennonite Church is finally recognizing values long appreciated in the business world.

Amidst the complexities of life and society in the church, I am concerned that God's people, called Mennonites, will not helplessly succumb to impersonal forces or expend their energies in a proverbial "shotgun" fashion. Over 450 years ago God birthed the Anabaptist movement. That is, of course, not something for which we can take credit. But it does convey to us a certain calling and responsibility for the fulfillment of God's purposes for humankind and the natural order.

There is no shortage of opportunities for service or issues needing attention in our church. Following in the wake of Purdue 87 are calls for renewed attention to how we nominate people to churchwide offices, guidance for church agencies in addressing and dealing with employees who cannot conscientiously pay taxes that go for military purposes, more inclusion of the concerns of farmers and entrepreneurs among us, development of a curriculum on human sexuality, work on a new confession of faith, and continued exploration of our cooperative relationship with the General Conference Mennonite Church.

One symptom of complexity is the sense of being overwhelmed by a multiplicity of things and the loss of focus in our lives. We need to hear again the call of God toward the "single eye" and to choose what is "most needful."

Amidst all the options and opportunities we face, what are the optimal choices we can make as a Mennonite Church for the next few years? I propose four themes which need special priority for us at this time.

First, there dare be no substitute for continued nurturing of the essential sources of our spiritual life. The Ministry of Spirituality Committee reminded us all in a May 5, 1987, Gospel Herald article that there were at least six streams of spiritual life from which Mennonite people are drinking. This diversity can be viewed as a cause for alarm. It also can be reassuring to know of the spiritual hunger in the lives of many people in our churches. Variety and spiritual life expression may create problems. It will call for humility and openness to keep it from being divisive. But God can do marvels with spiritually receptive people. And when complexity is tempered by the Spirit of God, we no longer are victims but are powerful agents for change and renewal in our world. A solid commitment to nourishing our souls and ministering in the power of God is a necessity in our church.

Second, Vision '95 will continue to serve as a pivotal point for the Mennonite Church in the next number of years. The witness and stewardship goals adopted at Ames 85 have been endorsed by all 22 conferences, by hundreds of congregations, by the five program boards, and the three associate groups in the Mennonite Church. These goals have become a denominational vision that holds promise for personal, congregational, and, hopefully, social transformation. Focus on Christian stewardship can lead toward joyous celebration of God's goodness and wrest us from the hammerlock of materialism. Planting new congregations and sending new workers overseas will demand keen prayerful discernment and new commitment from people of all ages. Certainly there are risks associated with these goals. But if we wait until we are mature and have resolved all potential problems, we will likely never begin. Now is the time for prayerful openness to ask what next steps the Lord wishes from me, from my congregation, and from the larger Mennonite Church. In the simplicity of these two goals is a good antidote to complexity.

Third, leadership will be a theme needing particular attention in the next few years. There is concern not only about the quantity of leaders needed for normal pastoral transitions in our 500 new churches, but also the quality of pastors in our churches; not only for pastoral leaders, but also "lay" leaders to serve as elders, teachers, and shepherds in our congregations; not only for congregational leaders but also leaders to serve in our conferences and churchwide agencies; not only for middle-aged white male leaders, but youth and older people who are black, brown, and female; not only for simply warm bodies to fill offices, but people with vision, courage, and spiritual insight to point the way and step out ahead in the work of God. The General Board has appointed a Comprehensive Leadership Development Strategy group to give guidance to these leadership needs. Susceptibility to leaders whose values and purposes do not fit our heritage of faith is real. It is urgent that our church provide leadership that inspires confidence and enables us to fulfill Christ's intentions for the church.

Fourth, we now face a serious challenge to the fundamental character of the church as an interdependent body of believers. Individualism and self-interest characterize our lives more and more. Increasingly, congregations use more dollars for their own program with the resulting erosion of vision and involvement with needs further from home. Localization of church and mission efforts is healthy except when it results in congregations, conferences, and nations with fewer resources needing to do without because some people and some churches are preoccupied with their own programs. The Mennonite Church is one part of the larger body of Christ. Churchwide agencies exist to redistribute resources in North America and around the world. The long-term solution for supporting denominational agencies can not be reduced to slick fund-raising techniques. The real challenge is to enable sisters and brothers in Gulf States or Los Angeles or Managua to become inextricably connected with the saints in Lansdale, Lancaster, Lombard, and Kitchener. Such an interdependent body will be inclusive of all races, cultures, and nationalities. It speaks to our attitudes toward other Mennonite bodies. Even the forty-ninth parallel cannot become a barrier to mutual respect and cooperative ministry. Complexity becomes manageable when we aspire toward a unity that transcends privatism, localism, individualism, and nationalism.

Sometimes I hear laments about the lack of a clear Mennonite identity. Indeed, we are not as simply recognized or defined as in earlier times. But I propose that a search for an identity will elude us except as our vision and mission finds unity in Christ and in Christ's priorities for the church. In a focus on spirituality, stewardship and witness, leadership and interdependence, we may find clarity about who God intends the Mennonite Church to be in these last years of the twentieth century. □

April 18, 1988, is the 300th anniversary of the Quaker-Mennonite public statement against slavery

Facing the Issues Then and Today

by Edgar Metzler
Elkhart, Indiana
Associate Secretary of Congregational Peace and Social Concerns
Mennonite Board of Congregational Ministries

Throughout history, God has stirred the consciences of faithful people to speak and act out the good news of salvation. Often the first word of conviction must be addressed to the church because the church sometimes becomes as apathetic to God's intention for justice and peace as the surrounding society.

This was the situation in 1688 when most Christians regarded the traffic of slaves as a normal, even God-ordained, aspect of social organization. Christians owned slaves and some traded and transported slaves. Some who did not question the instutition of slavery, nevertheless attempted to treat their slaves kindly, as admonished by the apostle Paul in the letter to the Ephesians (6:5-9).

In that context, how did it happen that four Mennonite and Quaker Christian brothers were led, on April 18, 1688, in the settlement of Germantown, Pennsylvania, to draft the first public statement of a clear and absolute testimony against slavery? We know little about the immediate occasion for this prophetic dissent, but the message was clear:

> These are the reasons why we are against the traffik of menbody, as followeth. Is there any that would be done or handled at this manner? viz., to be sold or made a slave for all the time of his life?
> There is a saying that we shall doe to all men like as we will be done ourselves; making no difference of what generation, descent or colour they are. And those who steal or rob men, and those who buy or purchase them, are they not alike?...
> And we who know that men must not commit adultery—some do commit adultery, in others, separating wives from their husbands and giving them to others; and some sell the children of these poor creatures to other men. Ah! doe consider well this thing, you who doe it, if you would be done at this manner? and if it is done according to Christianity?...
> Now consider well this thing, if it is good or bad? And in case you find it to be good to handel these blacks at that manner, we desire and require you hereby lovingly that you may inform us herein, which at this time never was done, viz., that Christians have such a liberty to do so....*

This statement of conviction, one third of it excerpted above, was based on the biblical teachings of the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule. An additional concern was the very reputation of the Christian faith if believers treated others as property.

The statement was signed by Gerrit Hendricks, Derick op den Graff, Francis Daniel Pastorius, and Abraham op den Graff. The signers represented "our meeting at Germantown, held the 18th of the 2nd month (April), 1688," and the document was "to be delivered to the Monthly Meeting at Richard Worrell's."

Who were these courageous prophets? At the time they were members of a Friends meeting. The Quaker author, John Sykes, describes them as "a group of Rhineland Mennonites who, arriving in Pennsylvania, joined themselves to Friends and formed a subsidiary meeting." At least one, Abraham up den Graff, later rejoined the Mennonites.

Did their Mennonite background on the European continent have anything to do with their pioneer admonition to the larger Quaker community, mainly from England with continuing strong ties to British Friends? Quaker historian Hugh Barbour suggests that Mennonites and Quakers migrating from Crefeld, Germany, would have had little or no exposure to slavery. The shock to their ethical sensitivities is reflected in the statement, "This makes an ill report in all these countries of Europe, where they hear off, that ye Quakers doe here handel men as they handle there ye cattle."

But the basic appeal of the signers of the 1688 protest against slavery was that it was utterly against their Christian faith. Unfortunately, their fellow believers were slow to see the light. The Monthly Meeting at Richard Worrell's found it too weighty a matter to decide and referred it to the quarterly meeting in Philadelphia which in turn passed the issue on to the Yearly Meeting, the highest body for churchly decision-making. The vested interests in slavery still overshadowed the appeal to the Inner Light of Christ. No action was taken.

But the seed of conscience was planted. Its slow growth is recorded in the "advices" of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting: in 1696 against the importation of slaves, in 1730 against buying imported slaves, in 1754 against buying any slaves, in 1758 the appointment of a committee of five to visit all Friends who held slaves and persuade them to give them freedom. Finally, in 1776, the Yearly Meeting declared that any Quakers still holding slaves should be disowned by their meeting.

The slow pace of change would be frustrating to most prophets. But among Friends of that time, "unity of voice was rightly considered the necessary basis of forward action." They believed that even less would have been accomplished if the church split over the issue.

We might also learn from the style of conscience-prodding practiced by John Woolman in his persistent but gentle call to abolish slavery. Addressing the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting in 1758 on the practice of slaveholding, he asked, "Are you easy in your hearts doing it?"

What questions might John Woolman address to us today? "Are you easy in your hearts about the racial prejudice still existing long after slavery was made illegal?" "Are you easy in your hearts accepting a state security system that depends on the threat of nuclear annihilation?" "Are you easy in your hearts paying taxes for an arms race that wastes God's resources and robs the poor, the hungry, the jobless?"

Several years ago Brethren, Mennonites, and Quakers through the New Call to Peacemaking joined other concerned Christians in a "New Abolitionist Covenant." Living out the gospel in each age, Christians must discern what they will embrace and what they will refuse because of Jesus Christ. Slavery became such an issue in the nineteenth century for all Christians, long after those first intrepid disciples at Germantown challenged the consciences of the church.

For many, nuclear arms pose such a question today. "Nuclear weapons are now, as slavery was two hundred years ago, a manifestly evil institution deeply embedded in the structure of our society," claims nuclear scientist Freeman Dyson.

Those earlier Christians who began to preach that following Christ was incompatible with slavery were ignored or resisted by those who assumed that the abolition of slavery was an unattainable goal. But some refused to cooperate with the evil and by their actions appealed to the consciences of others.

Some have said that the abolition of nuclear weapons also is an unrealistic goal. But now even the superpowers are beginning to see the idiocy of seeking security through such means and are trying to reduce the arsenals.

For those filled with the compassion of Christ, the goal is the abolition of all war. Jesus observed that there will be famines and there will be wars. That prediction has not cut the nerve of concern to feed the hungry and seek ways to avoid famine.

Similarly, working to abolish war is the same living out of the gospel and sharing of Christ's love as those Christians who, moved by the suffering of slaves, set out toward what was then perceived as the totally utopian goal of abolishing the structures of slavery.

The least we can do is follow the lead of that faithful 1688 Germantown quartet of believers who addressed an urgent message of conscience to the larger church community. A recent poster suggests, "A modest proposal for peace: Let the Christians of the world agree that they will not kill each other."

A modest beginning would be for every Mennonite congregation to share that gospel concern with at least one other congregation of the larger Christian community during the coming year. □

Directory of North American Congregations

This directory lists Mennonite Church congregations according to the country, state/province, and city in which they are located. Within each country (Canada, United States, and others), congregations are listed alphabetically by state/province and city. This directory includes all the Mennonite Church congregations which are listed in the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations," "Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations," and the "Directory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences."

In addition, the directory includes all congregations listed in the "Directory of Other Mennonite Bodies." These include Beachy Amish (BA) and Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church (EP). Also included are all congregations affiliated with the Brethren in Christ (BIC), Church of God in Christ, Mennonite (CGCM), General Conference Mennonite (GC), Mennonite Brethren (MB), Evangelical Mennonite Church (EMC), Evangelical Mennonite Conference of Canada (EMCC), the Evangelical Mennonite Mission Conference of Canada (EMMC), and the Fellowship of Evangelical Bible Churches (FEBC). These congregations are integrated with the Mennonite Church congregations. Information listed about these congregations includes only their location, name, and affiliation.

The purpose of this directory is to provide information regarding the location of the meetinghouse. It is designed to assist readers in their efforts to find or contact the congregation at its meetinghouse. Note that the location of the meetinghouse is not a mailing address. All mail should be sent to the address listed under the congregation in the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations," "Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations," "Directory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences," or "Directory of Other Mennonite Bodies." Persons desiring to get in touch with the pastor or contact person of a congregation should follow the information provided in these same directories. Also included in these directories is information regarding conference organizations, area/bishops/overseer groupings, and other congregational data. (See page 10 for an explanation of the conference codes used.)

Effort was made to secure complete and accurate information about each congregation listed. If there are errors and/or missing data, please provide full information to the Editor, Mennonite Yearbook, 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683-1999. An example of a complete Mennonite Church congregational listing is as follows:

nonite membership of 347,617 in 3,786 congregations (Table VI) and 774,000 members in 145 bodies from 57 countries worldwide (Tables VII and VIII).

Totals for the other Mennonite Church conferences who do not participate in the activities of the Mennonite Church General Assembly are 13,363 members in 274 congregations. Other Mennonite bodies—the Beachy Amish have 7,266 in 116 congregations, and the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church numbers 3,354 in 55 congregations (Table IV).

The Mennonite Yearbook is a tool to facilitate the life of the Mennonite Church (MC). The production of this volume is the result of the close and intense cooperative efforts of the editorial and production staff of the Mennonite Yearbook, with congregations, conferences, boards, and numerous activities, projects, institutions, and agencies who provided up-to-date information and organized it in a clear way so that it benefits the whole body. To each one who assisted in this significant work, we are very grateful.

The 1988-89 Yearbook is now in your hands. Use it fully. Let us know how it feels and works. We welcome your suggestions and feedback. Our aim is to provide you with a highly useful tool so that you can participate fully in the common life, heritage, and faith of the Mennonite Church and in the larger Mennonite family of church bodies in North America and around the world. Also let us know how you feel about the biennial edition. Should this be the pattern for the future or should we find ways to provide annual data to users of this volume? Detach the self-addressed response card from this volume, complete, and return to us by May 15 or as soon as possible.—James E. Horsch

Directory of Conferences and Congregations

Related to Mennonite Church General Assembly

This directory lists Mennonite Church conferences alphabetically by name of conference. Within each one, congregations are listed alphabetically by name. Conferences listed in this directory participate in the program of the Mennonite Church General Assembly. Conferences who do not participate are included in the "Directory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences."

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information necessary to contact a given congregation by mail or telephone without consulting other sections of the Yearbook. The mailing address and telephone number listed is the one designated by the congregation as its official contact. This may be the pastor's office, residence, meetinghouse, or another location or person. Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Directory of North American Congregations" section. (See page 10 for an explanation of the conference codes used.)

Listed with the congregation is the person designated as the primary contact who carries the ministerial function code (1) and those who carry active responsibility (2). Ministers included only in the "Ministerial Directory" are those who are retired (3), without congregational responsibility (4), carrying district, conference, or churchwide responsibilities (5), chaplains (6), missionaries (7), staff members of a church-sponsored or related board, agency, or program (8).

An example of a complete congregational listing in this directory is as follows:

name of congregation	cong. number	year founded	dist./area ref. no	city, county state/province	secondary church/conf. affiliations	members

When There Are Congregational and Ministerial Changes

The Mennonite Yearbook maintains the official listing of Mennonite Church congregations and ministers. Should there be a change in the congregational address, telephone number, ministerial leadership, or any other details of its listing, please report these changes to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible.

In order to enter changes properly the Mennonite Yearbook office needs the old information that is being replaced and, of course, the new information which updates it.

The same request applies to ministers. Any change in the minister's address, telephone, office, function, congregational membership, conference affiliation, and other details are to be reported to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible. Please submit current information with the new information which replaces it.

Send all communications to 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683-1999, or call us at 412-887-8500. At the same time, notify your conference secretary or office of these changes. Your conference secretary or office and the Mennonite Yearbook office work together closely to insure the complete accuracy of congregational and ministerial listings.

See page 10 for explanation of ministerial, congregational, board, and denominational codes.

Directory of Urban and Area Organizations and Congregations

This directory lists urban councils and area organizations alphabetically by name. Its purpose is to identify those informal and emerging bodies which are developing within the life of the church in our urban centers and areas where congregations with a variety of conference affiliations and church bodies are located. Heretofore these groups were listed with the conferences. With few exceptions all congregations are members of a Mennonite Church conference or another Mennonite body. With these conferences and bodies, congregations carry their primary affiliation.

Listed with each congregation is the person designated as the primary contact who carries the ministerial function code 1. All other ministers are listed in the "Ministerial Directory."

Directory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences

Not Related to Mennonite Church General Assembly

This directory lists Mennonite Church conferences alphabetically by name of conference, area, or fellowship. Within each one, congregations are listed alphabetically by name. Conferences and fellowships in this directory do not participate in nor send delegates to the Mennonite Church General Assembly.

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information necessary to contact a given congregation by mail or telephone without consulting other sections of the Yearbook. The mailing address and telephone number listed is the one designated by the congregation as their official contact. This may be the pastor's office, residence, meetinghouse, or another location or person. Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Directory of North American Congregations" section. (See page 10 for an explanation of the conference codes used.)

Listed with the congregation is the person designated as the primary contact who carries the ministerial function code (1). Ministers included only in the "Ministerial Directory" are those who carry active responsibility (2), are retired (3), are without congregational responsibility (4), carry responsibilities beyond the congregation (5), are chaplains (6), are active missionaries (7), are staff members of a church-sponsored or related board, agency, or program (8).

For an example of a complete congregational listing in this directory see the first page of the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations."

Over 17,000 Mennonites united in nurture and mission

Lancaster Mennonite Conference represents over 17,000 Mennonites in 13 east coast states and Washington, D.C. There are over 200 congregations comprising some 13 language groups.

The ministries of Lancaster Conference assist local churches and the needs of its peoples and provide opportunity for mission involvement.

Children and young people receive Christian education with an Anabaptist perspective in the Conference's 25 cooperating primary and secondary schools.

Eastern Mennonite Board of Missions helps congregations spread the good news of Jesus Christ across the United States and on every continent through some 140 overseas missionaries, 100 home workers, and scores of volunteers—usually young adults—in the Discipleship Ministries program.

The Board of Congregational Resources focuses on evangelism, worship, congregational nurture, family life, peace issues, stewardship, continuing education, youth, and the aged in Lancaster Conference congregations.

Participating agencies in the Board of Brotherhood Ministries provide mutual aid, care for handicapped persons and senior citizens, and mental health care.

Lancaster Mennonite Conference—nurturing its membership and reaching out to a needy world.

Directory of Mennonite Church Organizations and Related Ministries

The ministry and mission of the Mennonite Church is carried out through boards listed below. These are supported by contributions from the membership, with exception that the program of the Mennonite Mutual Aid Board is supported by enrollment in their services and the program of the Mennonite Publication Board is supported by purchases of books, curriculum materials, and periodicals.

The 1988 combined budget of the churchwide agencies is $11,342,800. The average per member contribution needed by each of the agencies is as follows: Mennonite Board of Congregational Ministries, $9.35; Mennonite Board of Education, $2.90; Mennonite Board of Missions, $91.00; seminaries $12.50; colleges $30.10; Mennonite Church General Board, $5.20; minority leadership education, $5.95, Assoc. Group (AAMA), $.60. This brings the total per member average giving goal to $157.60.

Inter-Mennonite agencies approved for churchwide support include Mennonite Central Committee, up to $14.40 per member (to be adjusted by each congregation in proportion to the amounts contributed and sent directly to MCC by individuals) and Mennonite World Conference, $1.00 per member.

VIRGINIA

Fellowship of Concerned Mennonites. 1251 Virginia Ave., Harrisonburg, VA 22801 (703-434-1500). George R. Brunk, II, executive director, 1516 Hawthorn Circle, Harrisonburg, VA 22801; Walter Beachy, president, 809 Lombard Rd., Plain City, OH 43064 (614-857-1007); Simon Schrock, vice-president, 4614 Holly Ave., Fairfax, VA 22030 (703-631-0122); Sanford G. Shetler, secretary-treasurer, R 2, Bx 183A, Hollsopple, PA 15935 (703-434-4007); and J. Otis Yoder, Star Route, Bx 150, Breezewood, PA 15533 (717-485-4082).

Founded 1984. The Fellowship is a coalition of like-minded Mennonites whose concerns focus upon the basic biblical tenets of faith which have been the foundations of the sector of the Reformation of the sixteenth century known as the Anbaptist Movement, with special interest in that segment of Anabaptism called Mennonite. The Fellowship was formed because certain of those basic biblical tenets of faith long held as foundational more currently are being questioned, modified, or negated, and, because by general acknowledgment, the Mennonite Church membership contains a wide range of conservative elements on the one hand and liberal elements on the other, with the latter seemingly gaining the ascendency, and, because at issue is the control of thought through the schools and through the publication of literature, and, because in the present confusion of ideas there is need for a fundamental, distinctive, proportional, and consistent articulation of faith

Purpose and function: MCC is the cooperative relief and service agency of 17 North American Mennonite and Brethren in Christ churches and conferences. Central for Mennonites is Christ's call for Christians to reflect the compassion of Jesus, teach the good news to the poor, proclaim liberty for the captives and recovery of sight for the blind, and set at liberty those who are oppressed. Community development, peacemaking, and material aid are carried on "in the name of Christ" in response to Christ's command to teach all nations the way of discipleship, love and peace.

Directory of Overseas Mennonite Churches and Programs

The following list includes various Mennonite Church relationships overseas through Mennonite Board of Missions, Mennonite Central Committee, and the following district conferences: Conservative, Franconia, Lancaster, Pacific Coast, and Virginia (see listing of conference mission boards under "Mennonite Board of Missions" for individual board addresses). Information includes efforts that are formally organized as well as programs which have not yet resulted in the formation of a church body.

Reference to the organized church bodies is also made in the "Mennonite and Brethren in Christ World Directory." Names in parentheses are children of the workers. The year in parentheses after a worker's name indicates the year assignment began. The address of church officers and workers are the same as the church office or agency contact unless included. Names of workers are listed to encourage personal contact between the reader and the ones involved in mission and service activities. Since postal rates change frequently, contact your local post office for current rates.

Directory of Other Mennonite Bodies

This directory lists other Mennonite Bodies alphabetically by name of body. Within each one, congregations are listed alphabetically by name. These bodies listed relate informally to the Mennonite Church on a fraternal basis. Included are the Beachy Amish Church (BA) and the Eastern Pennsylvania Mennonite Church (EP).

The purpose of this directory is to provide all the information necessary to contact a given congregation by mail or telephone without consulting other sections of the Yearbook. The mailing address and telephone number listed is the one designated by the congregation as their official contact. This may be the pastor's office, residence, meetinghouse, or another location or person. Information regarding the meetinghouse (location, telephone, etc.) is provided in the "Directory of North American Congregations" section. (See page 10 for an explanation of the conference codes used.)

Listed with the congregation is the person designated as the primary contact who carries the ministerial function code (1). Ministers included only in the "Ministerial Directory" are those who carry active responsibility (2), are retired (3), are without congregational responsibility (4), carry responsibilities beyond the congregation (5), are chaplains (6), are active missionaries (7), are staff members of a church-sponsored or related board, agency, or program (8). The "MInisterial Directory" is found with each body, after the organizational and congregational entry.

For an example of a complete congregational listing in this directory see the first page of the "Directory of Conferences and Congregations."

Mennonite Church Ministerial Directory

This directory lists all ordained, licensed, or commissioned men and women who are members of the Mennonite Church in North America. It includes ministers of Mennonite Church conferences who do and those who do not participate in the program of Mennonite Church General Assembly. (These are from congregations listed in "Directory of Conferences and Congregations" and "Directory of Other Mennonite Church Conferences.") The information provided for each person is as follows: name, name of spouse, address, telephone (while the home information is requested, some ministers prefer an office listing), office, year of ordination, function, year of birth, congregational name and number (if person carries function no. 1), conference affiliation. See example below. Where information is not available or not applicable, it is omitted.

When There Are Congregational and Ministerial Changes

The Mennonite Yearbook maintains the official listing of Mennonite Church congregations and ministers. Should there be a change in the congregational address, telephone number, ministerial leadership, or any other details of its listing, please report these changes to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible.

In order to enter changes properly the Mennonite Yearbook office needs the old information that is being replaced and, of course, the new information which updates it.

The same request applies to ministers. Any change in the minister's address, telephone, office, function, congregational membership, conference affiliation, and other details are to be reported to the Mennonite Yearbook office as soon as possible. Please submit current information with the new information which replaces it.

Send all communications to 616 Walnut Ave., Scottdale, PA 15683-1999, or call us at 412-887-8500. At the same time, notify your conference secretary or office of these changes. Your conference secretary or office and the Mennonite Yearbook office work together closely to insure the complete accuracy of congregational and ministerial listings.
